

Tamae Yoneda

Tamae Yoneda is a contemporary dancer based in Berlin from Osaka, Japan.

She is the founder of the dance company “Amaiame”.

After reaching the finals at Japan's largest dance competition, ‘Japan Dance Delight’ in 2014, she was invited to various dance events both as a guest dancer and as judge , including ‘Open Your Mind Japan’ 2017 edition.

She was curious about the European dance scene, and moved to London in 2017. She is also a team member of the London based ‘201 Dance Company’.

She moved to Berlin in 2019.

Although her background is mostly Contemporary, she is very interested in and constantly exposes herself to other disciplines of dance.

Tamae’s desire is to understand how body movement can be used as a tool to express deep human emotions which resonate with everyone, regardless of their origin or background.

Currently she is teaching contemporary dance at the Flying Steps academy, Papillon tanz and Tanzhalle for professional training.

She is working on performance projects with Joy Alpuerto Ritter, Roni Rotem in Berlin and Paulo Franco in Cologne.
